

B1
a reservation information area for storing a reservation information; and
a record information area for storing a record information, wherein the record information is a television program and is recorded on the record information area based on the reservation information, and the reservation information indicates a scheduled time for recording the television program on the recordable medium.

D1
B2
14. (Amended) A recordable medium comprising:
a reservation information area for storing a reservation information; and
a record information area for storing a record information, wherein the record information is recorded on the record information area based on the reservation information, and the reservation information comprises at least a channel information, a start time for recording, a stop time for recording and a recording date to record a television program.

M
B
17. (Amended) A recordable medium comprising:
a reservation information area on which a reservation information is recorded in advance; and
a record information area for storing a record information, wherein, at the time of recording operation, the record information, which is a television program, is recorded on the record information area based on the reservation

B3
information, the reservation information indicating a scheduled time for recording the television program on the recordable medium.

D1
21. (Amended) A recordable medium comprising:

a reservation information area on which a reservation information is recorded in advance; and a record information area for storing a record information,

B4
wherein, at the time of recording operation, the record information is recorded on the record information area based on the reservation information, and the reservation information comprises at least a channel information, a start time for recording, a stop time for recording and a recording date to record a television program.
